

HEALTH AND SAFETY GENERAL POLICY STATEMENT

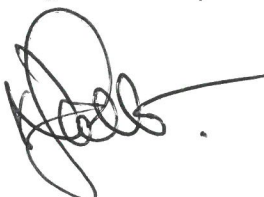

To ensure, so far as is reasonably practicable, that risks to the health and safety of Mylor Staff, Tenants, Customers and Site Visitors are eliminated and that where risks to health and safety cannot be eliminated, to ensure, so far as is reasonably practicable, that risks are adequately controlled and that the lowest-risk option is substituted.

- In respect of all employees to ensure that there are adequate arrangements in place for the effective management of their health and safety at work.
- In respect of work undertaken by outside Contractors working on site, by use of MYH's Contractor's Registration Scheme, to ensure, as far as is reasonably practicable, that work is carried out in accordance with statutory requirements.
- In respect of Tenants, Customers and Site Visitors to provide, as far as is reasonably practicable, a safe, secure and well maintained site.
- To ensure that all employees receive adequate health and safety information, instruction and supervision and to ensure that they are adequately trained and capable of undertaking assigned work tasks.
- To ensure, so far as is reasonably practicable, that there are adequate preventive and protective measures in place with regard to:
 - The provision of safe and properly maintained work equipment
 - The safe handling, use and application of substances hazardous to health
 - The prevention of accidents and cases of work-related ill health
 - The maintenance of safe and healthy working conditions
 - The provision of adequate and appropriate welfare facilities for employees
 - The provision of adequate and appropriate Personal Protective Equipment

Mylor Yacht Harbour undertakes, so far as is reasonably practicable:

1. To implement the stated aims of this health and safety policy statement by putting into practice adequate and appropriate preventive and protective measures for health and safety in accordance with the requirements of relevant statutory instruments, approved codes of practice, health and safety guidance and good working practice, so far as is reasonably practicable for the work carried out.
2. To review the organisation of health and safety within the workplace, at least annually, in order to ensure that there are sufficient persons to assist with the implementation this health and safety policy statement.
3. To prepare and review risk assessments, any preventive and protective measures for health and safety, safe systems of work and their appropriate implementation.
4. To inform all employees with regard to:
 - The contents of the health and safety policy statement
 - The requirements of risk assessments
 - The preventive and protective measures for health and safety
 - The content of any safe systems of work; and
 - Any changes with respect to any of these items
